

Student Admissions, Outcomes, and Other Data

University of Kansas School Psychology 2016-2017

The University of Kansas School Psychology Doctoral Program is an APA-accredited program. According to APA’s Commission on Accreditation, each APA-accredited doctoral graduate program is required to provide potential applicants, current students, and the public with information about and expectations of their program. The purpose of this disclosure is to inform potential applicants, current students, and the public about the program and to assist potential applicants to make informed decisions about applying to a doctoral program and accepting an offer of admissions into a program. Educational/training outcomes for the University of Kansas School Psychology Doctoral Program are reported below and include (a) time to complete the program, (b) program costs, (c) internship information, (d) attrition, and (e) licensure information.

See below for a description of the program admissions policies that allow students to enter with credit for prior graduate work, and the expected implications for time to completion.

Students may transfer six hours (eight hours if a University of Kansas undergraduate) of graduate credit to count towards a School Psychology graduate degree. In addition, students may request a waiver from a required course based on a previously completed graduate course that is evaluated to be equivalent to the course required at the University of Kansas. The course transfers and waivers may reduce the amount of time needed to complete the doctoral program by one or two semesters.

Program Costs

Description	2016-2017 1 st -year Cohort Cost
Tuition for full-time students (in-state)	13,512
Tuition for full-time students (out-of-state)	30,544
Tuition per credit hour for part-time students (if applicable enter amount; if not applicable enter "NA")	NA
University/institution fees or costs	910
Additional estimated fees or costs to students (e.g. books, travel, etc.)	4,738

Tuition estimates for full-time students are based on the 32 credit hours that are typically taken during the Fall, Spring, and Summer of the first year. Financial assistance is also available to our doctoral students. Financial assistance may include fellowships, scholarships, graduate teaching and research assistantships, student hourly work, and student loans. Most of our doctoral students have graduate teaching assistantships (GTAs) or graduate research assistantships (GRAs). For students who have a 40% or 50% GTA position, full core tuition is waived and students work 16 (40% GTA) to 20 (50% GTA) hours a week and receive a stipend.
